Residency Bond Program Ltd is a leading independent service provider in the prospering field of business and investor immigration. Laszlo Gaal provides a unique overview of the firm and the services it provides.

Residency Bond Program mainly focuses on business people and investors who want to find new opportunities in Europe.

There are several reasons why people from all around the world want to move to the European Union:

- Investors are mainly attracted by Europe's stability and the variety of investment opportunities
- Business people want access to Europe's free, single market – the world's biggest economy
- People may wish to move to a peaceful, healthy environment with a high standard of living.

We find that many people are looking to enhance their lifestyle by living in Europe. The lifestyle advantages include better access to essential services such as health care and education, as well as the natural environment, well-developed infrastructure, cultural facilities and the like. Safety and security are also important factors in lifestyle decisions.

Citizenship and residency through investment programs offer a route of legal access to Europe, relatively quickly and simply, without significant disruption to the clients' life.

As pioneers, we have been concerned with the Hungarian Residency Bond Program from the first moment, since its very inception. This program offers Hungarian permanent residency under preferential conditions for non-EU nationals willing to invest in government residency bonds. We have carefully studied all the citizenship programs and finally selected the very best. We seek to help our clients find a citizenship opportunity that best suits their needs.

We are well aware, that the biggest migratory wave of the last 70 years has put Europe and the Schengen treaty under great pressure, and the terror in Paris and Brussels has only increased the crisis. These developments may confuse potential investors, so we need to face these new challenges and provide guidance and support at all times.

Ultimately we are dedicated to working together with a leading and internationally recognized law firm as our strategic partner so that experienced immigration lawyers will advise our international clients and handle their applications, ensuring they receive the very best service. Our expert team is highly motivated to meet clients' needs and expectations to the very highest standards. We provide them with a full scope and all-inclusive personal assistance.
